GC linkages director invited to Washington

By VALERIE EVENEDEN
of the Press-Record

Shirley Blasingame, project director of the "Linkages in Progress" pilot program in Granite City, has been invited by the U.S. Department of Education to participate in a series of workshops and information sharing meetings to be held in Washington, D.C.

Mrs. Blasingame will be in Washington tomorrow through Friday. She will be accompanied by Robert White, "Linkages in Progress" state program director, and Nancy Melville of the Illinois State Board of Education.

Coordinated Youth Services of Granite City was awarded a $186,265 grant earlier this year to conduct a "Linkages" pilot program in Madison County to implement and evaluate an alternative training service for CETA-eligible youth.

This region was one of only 10 areas throughout the nation to be selected for the special project.

The "Linkages" program is being co-sponsored by the Madison County Educational Service Region and the Madison County Office of Manpower Development, with assistance from the Southwestern Illinois Metropolitan and Regional Planning Commission (SIMAPC) and the Consortium of Vocational Educators and Employers (COVEE).

Concept of the program is to test the feasibility of developing positive attitudes toward work and education, involving youth who previously have not been able to adjust to a typical education setting.

C. A. "Bud" McMillan Jr., CYS executive director, explained.

The program's overall goal is to promote linkages among education, training and employment systems for the ultimate benefit of area young people and the economic health of the community.

The term "linkages" is defined as connecting separate systems to promote coordination and increase joint effectiveness.

A total of 40 CETA-eligible youths is able to take part in the program here.

Job development at an early stage and learning what industry and business have to offer are among the program benefits.

Preparing for job interviews, learning how they can enter apprenticeship programs, and discovering their job interests are also part of "linkages."

The program is designed to build upon already existing accomplishments between high school vocational education and the CETA education training systems, and to further strengthen and coordinate

Energy use reduced under state program

Illinois schools, hospitals and other institutions have cut energy use substantially with the aid of a state-sponsored energy conservation program, Governor James R. Thompson has announced.

Schools that have energy audits performed, for example, saved an estimated $7 million in energy costs during the 1979-80 school year, the governor said. Over the next five years, the savings will swell to a total of $47 million.

"The Institutional Energy Conservation Program has been very successful and popular," Governor Thompson said. "It illustrates the benefits, in this case to the taxpayers of the state, that come from making more efficient use of energy."

The institutional conservation program is operated by the Illinois Institute of Natural Resources, the state energy agency. The program provides financial assistance in the form of matching grants to aid several types of institutions in identifying and implementing energy conservation activities in their buildings.

Grants are available to public and private non-profit schools, hospitals, public institutions, and local governments. The funds may be used for:

Energy audits. Buildings are inspected to identify changes that could save energy including hours of operation, maintenance procedures, and physical characteristics.

Technical assistance analyses. After an energy audit has been completed, a detailed analysis determines the specific costs and energy savings that would result from making physical

Finalize area cleanup plan

"Think clean," will be the rule this week and next as Quad-City area residents prepare for the community-wide cleanup drive, which begins Friday, May 1.

This will be the chance for residents to discard old washing machines, dryers, stoves, lawn mowers and other broken items which have been cluttering basements, garages and yards for lack of a proper disposal method.

It also will be the chance to get rid of smaller items as scouts, volunteers and city employees prepare for a massive cleanup effort.

Hundreds of Boy and Girl Scouts will be combing Granite City, Madison, Venice, Pontoon Beach and the surrounding townships Saturday, cleaning streets, alleys and state roads. In return for their labors, the scouts will receive patches; certificates for free French fries from McDonalds and will receive Pepsi-Cola during their work.

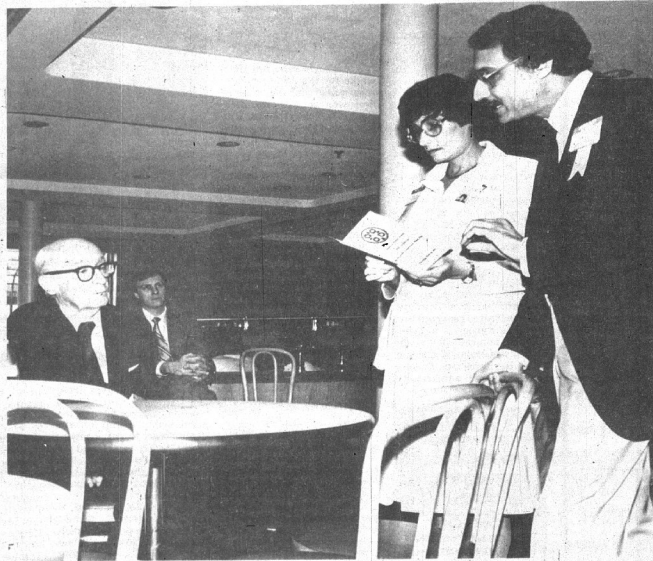

McDonalds has donated 6,000 trash bags for the scouts to use this weekend. Next week, street department trucks in the cities will cover the streets and alleys, picking up trash and large items and SCA Services had pledged to work 24 hours a day with three dumpsters to

Seeking 'special' treatment for special education pupils

By ED GURNEY
and GARY SCHNEIDER

Should a special education student be subject to less strict standards of school behavior than a regular student?

More specifically, should a 14-year-old junior high school student enrolled in a behavior disorders class be allowed to return to school after he had been caught smoking marijuana?

Those are the questions being asked as the result of an incident in Collinsville in which the board of education has been asked to rescind its expulsion April 1 of a special education student.

Local officials are watching carefully what happens in the Collinsville case, which is pitting the Land of Lincoln Legal Assistance Foundation against Collinsville school officials. The confrontation could have far-reaching effects on how all public school districts in the state discipline handicapped and retarded students in special programs.

"It seems somewhat of a double standard on the discipline of students and that doesn't seem right," superintendent of the Granite City schools, B.J. Davis, said this morning.

Dasen Gage, a juvenile officer with the Granite City Police Department, briefly reviewed the Collinsville incident and supports the board of education. "How are you going to control the special education students? If you are going to let them smoke marijuana whenever they choose, that will have a heck of an effect on all the other kids."

"If misbehavior ends up with special favors—a reward—then all of the students will be tempted to misbehave," Gage said.

Tom Kennedy of the Land of Lincoln Legal Assistance Foundation disagrees. He has notified the Collinsville Board of Education by letter that the foundation will seek "appropriate judicial and administrative relief," if it does not reinstate the student in question to his class immediately. The school board will meet tonight to study the demand.

"This is a bigger problem than just my client," Kennedy told a reporter.

Enrollment at SIUE up

Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville is experiencing a 15 percent increase in new student enrollment this quarter over the figures reported last year for the same period, according to Eugene Magac, director of the Office of Admissions and Records.

While there have been significant increases in all three categories of new students, the greatest increase has been in the number of new students attending the University at the graduate level. Magac said there are 26.7 percent more students enrolled in graduate studies this quarter than at the same time last year, 14.8 percent more new freshmen, and an eight percent increase in new transfer students.

The overall increase in total enrollment for the University is approximately four percent, with increases occurring at almost all levels. The total on-campus enrollment for the spring quarter is 8,855, against last year's enrollment of 8,516.

Magac reported that there are increases in both full-time and part-time student enrollment, with almost all of the University schools showing some percentage of increase in students.

There are 5,966 full-time students attending classes at the University this spring, against last year's figure of 5,613. Part-time students this quarter total 2,889, while there were only 2,903 attending last year during spring quarter.

According to headcount by class, there are increases in total freshmen, juniors, and seniors with the sophomore level remaining more or less constant with last year, Magac said.

This quarter's spring quarter class of freshmen numbered 1,524, and sophomores account for 1,505 students. The enrollment at the junior level stands at 1,635, and seniors number 1,608. In addition, there are 111 unclassified students, 1,663 graduate students, and 159 students enrolled in the Dental Medicine.

The admissions and records director attributes the increases to the University's efforts to recruit additional students and to retain those that are already enrolled in classes.

"Recruiting students is hard work. There is nothing magical about it. Students will tend to persist if the institution is delivering lively, exciting,

Retirees hear reports

Granite City and Vicinity Chapter 1340 of the American Association of Retired Persons heard reports from several meetings, including taxation matters, at a regular meeting held last week at the Granite City Township Hall.

David John, president, presided at the meeting and welcomed guests. Hostesses assisted in seating for the 176 in attendance. Elna Hoover, acting secretary, noted that Secretary Helen Bergfield was in attendance after an eye operation and the group was happy for her recovery.

Clara Schilling gave the financial report. Oscar Ash reported that there was discussion on raising the retirement age to 68, and that various bills were pending in Illinois. He noted also that senior citizens over 65 can purchase Granite City auto stickers for $1 at the center. It is necessary to bring driver's license and car registration.

Elna Hoover introduced J. Ben Jaimet, local tax-aid coordinator, and said that the income tax assistance program ended on April 10. Vernice Walter reported that the history group is to meet. She also announced that the Institute of learning class on Local Heritage meets every Monday at 10 a.m. at the YMCA.

She said that there were 16 graduates of the 55-Alive class. Georgia Butler said she sent nine cards in March and read a "thank you" from Helen Bergfield.

Marge Hall introduced new members: Harold and Barbara Dombrosky, Winfred Sheppard, Helen Urban, John and Gladys Hutson, Beulah Oonk, Roderick and Irene Key, Vivian Jaimet, Paul Leonard, Charles Milhouse, Mary Avery and Katherine Roman.

Art Lindner reported that tickets for the dinner dance were going fast and that a limit was set for 270. Dee Klesh then introduced the Community Singers, who gave a program of song.

After the program, refreshments were served and prizes were given to Charles Adams, Irene Kadence, Rose Switzer, Leona Cease, Irma Manning, Adolph Stanek, Karmyn Allen, June Stieb, David John, Gerald W. Fischer, Jim Cool and Helen Frenkel.

Craig LaPlants
parents of son

Mr. and Mrs. Craig LaPlant of Casper, Wyo., former residents of Granite City, became the parents of a son, born April 10, at the Casper Hospital.

The infant was named Michael Cameron. He weighed seven pounds, eight ounces.

Mrs. LaPlant will be remembered as the former Pam Stark, a 1974 graduate of Granite City High School.

The maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. E. O. Stark Jr. of Rural Route One.

Mrs. Ethel Stark, also of Granite City, is the maternal great-grandmother.

PROUD WINNERS of the Tri-Cities Area Chamber of Commerce cleanup poster contest sponsored by the Chamber's community pride committee display their posters last week. First place winner in the contest was Julie Terry, center, 10-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Cell. She is in the fourth grade at Mitchell School. She received a $100 savings bond for her winning entry. A second place gift of a $75 bond was awarded to Niki Bausch, left, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bausch. She attends St. Margaret Mary School. A $50 bond for third place was awarded to Susan Schaus, right, a student at Sacred Heart-St. Joseph Schools. Her parents are Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Schaus. City Temple Rangers compete

The Royal Rangers from City Temple Outpost 94 recently competed in the orienteering event of the Metro-South Royal Rangers Olympics. It was held at Woodland Park in Collinsville. Even though it rained, it did not hurt the spirit of the competition.

City Temple collected 14 points by getting second, third and fifth place finishes. The second place church was Maryville with 10 points. Fairview Heights was third with three points. Points were first-10; second-8; third-5; fourth-3; fifth-1.

Commander Ray Hasty Jr. of Maryville finished first with a time of nine minutes, 55 seconds. Second was Commander Michael Pryor of City Temple with a time of 11:07. Third was Commander Les Wiles of City Temple with a time of 13:58. Dan McPherson of Fairview Heights took fourth with 19:43. Billy Perigo of City Temple finished fifth with 20:45.

Orienteering is a race against time using compass and map skills. This race involved point to point orienteering which is going to the first point and getting the directions to the next point there. Each runner carries a card on which he has to write down the letter that is at each check point in the proper sequence. The fastest time wins if all check letters are right.

By winning the orienteering competition, City Temple moved from third place to a tie for first with Maryville at 23 points in the overall olympic standings. Fairview Heights dropped to third at 21 points. O'Fallon is still fourth at five points. Washington Park is still fifth with three points.

There are two more events coming up in the Metro-South Olympics. There will be track and field in May. The new games competition will be in August to complete the five event olympics.

Expenditures reported at Venice annual town meet

Venice Township spent a total of $244,061 in all funds during the 1980-81 fiscal year, Christ Pashoff, township supervisor, reported during the annual town meeting held in the Venice city hall Tuesday at 2 p.m.

The annual report included the general town fund, the general assistance fund, the municipal retirement fund, the anti-recession fund and the federal revenue sharing fund.

The town meeting also approved new budgets for the 1981-82 year for all accounts, including the highway fund.

Pashoff told the meeting that $133,030 was spent out of the general town fund against receipts of $139,276, mostly in tax distributions.

General assistance expenses were $40,067 against total receipts of $52,503, leaving a balance of $12,435. Disbursements in the revenue sharing fund amounted to $30,620. Receipts in that fund, he said, were $62,948 leaving a $32,328 balance, some of which is in time certificates.

Municipal retirement fund disbursements for the year amounted to $22,088 against total income of $33,064, resulting in an $11,514 balance, and in the anti-recession fund the township spent the total allotment of $1,048 for ambulance service.

Major town fund expenditures were for salaries, including $5,000 for the collector and $6,000 each for the town clerk and the highway commissioner. The supervisor received $7,000 for his services to the general assistance fund and $5,040 as town supervisor. A total of $10,000 was paid the assessor. Another $2,026 went for convention expenses. Total receipts for the highway department amounted to $34,338 against which $17,187 was spent.

Nameoki electors vote to continue special road tax

A special hard road tax of 16½ cents per $100 of assessed valuation will continue for the next five years in Nameoki Township, the town's electors decided on a 30 to 25 vote at the annual town meeting last week.

The tax, which is in addition to the regular road and bridge tax, must be approved each five years by the electors at an annual town meeting, or it is eliminated by the county clerk.

Town Clerk Douglas Teetor explained before the voting that the special hard road tax has been in continuous existence for more than 20 years in the township and that voting for the tax would not increase tax bills, but would continue the tax to which the residents had become accustomed.

Highway Commissioner Frank Mehelic urged approval of continuing the tax, saying his department needs the money badly. Teetor said the tax brings in between $90,000 and $100,000 a year for the maintenance, repair and drainage of roads.

He said that in addition to the 16½-cent special hard road tax, voters pay 12½ cents for the road and bridge fund and a 4-cent greater tax approved by the town board for a road and bridge total of 16½ cents.

For a $30,000 house, assessed at $10,000 (one-third of market value), the road and bridge fund will result in a tax of $16.50 per year and the special hard road tax will total $16.70 a year, for a total of $33.20 for the township highway department.

Teetor explained that collection of the special hard road fund tax approved Tuesday night will not begin until the summer of 1982, since the last five-year authorization of the special tax does not expire until this tax year.

The vote was by secret ballot. Fifty-eight persons voted and there were three spoiled ballots. The tax then was approved 30 to 25.

In other business, the electors (all registered voters residing in the township) selected Trustee W. Lee Adams as moderator for the meeting and approved a motion earmarking $30,000 in federal revenue sharing funds for the highway department to continue the environmental cleanup and health programs.

The motions are not binding, but will be considered by the town board when it prepares the revenue sharing budget for the fiscal year.

The actions officially transferred $24,000 in revenue sharing funds to the highway department for trash and limb collection and $6,000 for health projects. The township's board of trustees is to control the money and oversee the projects, the electors agreed.

Adams explained that the town board normally advances $2,000 a month to the highway department for the environmental cleanup program, but has the option of withholding the payment for any month when the program is not considered acceptable.

The $6,000 is released by the board of a project-by-project basis when health problems are noted and the highway commissioner agrees to have his department correct them.

Mehelic objected to the slow release of the funds by the town board, saying his department should collect the interest on the invested funds, rather than the town board.

Teetor responded, "That's just taking it from one pocket and putting it into another."

Mehelic also objected that the township is behind in its payments for the environmental cleanup program now, which necessitated borrowing by the highway department to meet its payroll. Teetor said the missed payments were because the township has not yet passed its new budgets for this fiscal year and said all past-due payments would be made when the new budgets are approved.

Teetor also explained that the money appropriated for the environmental cleanup and health programs has not yet been received, nor budgeted. "So many revenue sharing projects came in the other night, the board is going to have to decide how to fund them," he warned. The electors approved the supervisor's annual report for the 1980 fiscal year, which ended Feb. 28. It shows receipts to the town fund of $221,201, during the year, disbursements of $216,814 and a balance at the end of the year of $35,296.

In the revenue sharing fund, receipts totaled $92,909, disbursements were $89,934 and the balance at the end of the year was $17,974.

A total of $89,477 was received for the municipal retirement fund during the year, $83,255 was expended and the balance was $36,222 at the end of the year, the report shows.

In the general assistance fund, receipts totaled $89,607, disbursements were $40,633 and the balance was $48,973.

In the road and bridge fund, receipts totaled $186,185, disbursements were $181,079 and the balance was $5,106.

In the special hard road fund, $133,374 was received, $131,283 was spent and the balance was $12,511.

It was noted there also is a balance of $176 in the special bridge fund.

While the highway department's balances total $17,793, the department has incurred liabilities of $15,349, leaving only $2,444 at the end of the fiscal year.

Alleges that judge is too soft on delinquent fathers

A nine-point complaint charging that Chief Judge George Filcoff of Granite City is too soft on fathers who are delinquent in making child support payments has been filed in the Third Judicial Circuit by the office of State's Attorney Don Weber.

The complaint against Filcoff was prepared by Assistant State's Attorney John Cernkovich and alleges that Judge Filcoff told an assistant prosecutor that he was "sympathetic towards paternity defendants."

Based upon that statement and several cases in which Judge Filcoff allegedly ruled for low judgments or dismissals or refused continuances when the mothers were unable to appear in court, Cernkovich filed the complaint. Chief Associate Judge Edward Ferguson is studying the complaint and will attempt to find a solution, if a problem is found.

Judge Filcoff said he could not comment, due to pending cases, other than to say that the allegations are not true. He also denied making the statement that he is sympathetic towards paternity defendants.

Weber said his department now is attempting to obtain change of venue orders in most child support incentive cases and he expects Cernkovich to seek changes of venue in about 90 percent of the cases handled by the state's attorney's office.

Judge Filcoff has been holding hearings on change of venue motions in more than 50 such cases. Cernkovich contends that Judge Filcoff cannot rule on change of venue motion involving his own court. Last week, Judge Cernkovich in court argued one change of venue motion, Cernkovich said.

The cases stem from a state-supported program known as 4-D Child Support Incentive in which the state pays 75 percent of the cost of collecting delinquent child.

3 cars looted; GC man is held

Granite City police plan to apply at the Madison County State's Attorney's office for a felony warrant against a 23-year-old Granite City man in connection with the break-ins of two or more autos in the downtown area Thursday night.

At 10:10 p.m. Thursday, Albert Mullin, 259 Washington Ave., reported that his car, parked at 1938 rear Cleveland Blvd., had been broken into and ransacked and looted. Missing were eight wrenches, the title and registration and a switch. The burglar left a pair of sunglasses in the auto, he noted.

About the same time, Joseph Vaughn, 259 Washington Ave., discovered that his car, parked by a friend behind 1255 rear Niedringhaus Ave., had been entered, ransacked and an instant camera, photographs, change and a Beach Boys tape recording had been stolen.

Douglas Hupp, 1255 Niedringhaus Ave., then discovered that someone unlocked his car and removed an assortment of hand tools.

Police searched the area and found the 23-year-old in the park at Niedringhaus Avenue and Cleveland Boulevard holding some items. When ordered to stop by an officer, the man dropped several items, later found to be an instant camera and four hand tools.

A Beach Boys tape was found in his hip pocket. Vaughn identified the tape and camera as being from his auto, police said. Police alleged the young man has admitted at least one of the auto burglaries and is likely to be charged with a felony today.

reading to 7.0," the project director said.

Testing of another youth showed his average skills score raised from a 3.0 in the beginning to a 6.2 mark, she noted.

Also among the first group, seven children and the program and voluntarily returned to school on a full-time basis.

Of the seven remaining youths, six are now involved in on-the-job training in preparation of permanent positions and the seventh youth was going to work in June, Mrs. Blasigme said.

"The encouraging thing is the way businesses in the community have responded to the program," the director said.

"All the firms we have visited are willing to have the young people back again.

"There have been very few refusals by those firms approved to take part in the program, and only then if a job was considered to be too dangerous," she said.

Most of the young people, between 15 and 19 years old, view the world of employment with little enthusiasm before starting the program, Mrs. Blasigme said.

Some are frightened and others have had little success in a regular school program and need help in changing their attitude and becoming familiar with the jobs available.

"This is what it's all about," she stressed.

Mrs. Blasigme, a former teacher at Maryville and Wilson schools, has served as an instructor in the Alternative School Center, located at the CVS Building, 1254 Niedringhaus Ave., for the past two years.

She is a keen advocate of the individualized programs offered at the center which, she explains, "enables one to develop a closeness with the young people."

Department of Energy as to the level of funding for each grant.

Grants have been awarded on two occasions, and a third cycle of grant awards will be made soon. To date, 272 Illinois institutions have been awarded $2.6 million in technical assistance grants, and 95 schools and hospitals have received over $10 million to pay for conservation measures.

Energy audits have been conducted in over 6,000 institutional buildings in Illinois; nearly half of all hospitals and public and private schools were audited in the program's first year.

Typically, administrators and other personnel from institutions applying for grants participate in seminars where they learn to conduct energy audits.

"This makes the people in charge more aware of energy use and conservation opportunities," Governor Thompson said, "and maintenance personnel who take energy audit training learn to run their buildings more efficiently.

"This leads to big savings in energy at the beginning and then additional day-to-day savings," the governor added.

Although schools and hospitals are eager to win grant awards, Governor Thompson noted, the energy audits and audit training offer perhaps the most widespread and long-lasting tools for conserving energy, and these elements of the program are highly cost effective.

After one year of operation, schools had saved $7 million in energy costs; $1.6 million in public funds had been invested, meaning there had been a 400 percent return. A projection of costs and benefits over a five-year period calculates a return of $18 in benefits for every $1 of cost.

The numbers to arrange pickups of the items may be called, beginning Monday morning, and pickups will follow as rapidly as possible. Granite City residents should call 452-6222.

Madison residents may call 976-9999, the number for Venice residents is 877-0520, in Nameoki Township, the number is 981-1290, and Chouteau Township residents may call 931-0523.

2 schools ransacked

Burglars ransacked portions of Emerson Grade School and Prather Junior High School and tried to enter Frohardt Grade School.

At Prather yesterday, a classroom window was opened and entered. Entry was gained to nine rooms by removing windows adjacent to corridors.

It was discovered today that Emerson was burglarized last week by someone who pried off a screen and removed a restroom window. Three desks were ransacked and coins were taken from a soft drink machine in the cafeteria. A supply cabinet were entered on the second floor, and a ladder was moved to gain access to an attic area.

At Frohardt yesterday, a window was broken and then unlocked in an unsuccessful attempt to enter the building.

In addition, a softball was thrown and broke a window at Nameoki Grade School, it was discovered last night.

National Steel will select new board chairman

After a steel industry career spanning 20 years, George A. Stinson today announced his decision to retire as chairman of the board of National Steel Corp. effective Wednesday.

Stinson's successor is expected to be considered in Philadelphia on Wednesday afternoon following the firm's annual meeting of stockholders, when the board of directors conducts its annual organization meeting.

Stinson will be nominated to serve as chairman of the corporation's executive committee, having been a member of the committee since 1963.

Since joining the firm in 1961, Stinson has seen National Steel's net assets climb from $937 million to $13.4 billion. Howard M. Tove, formerly president of the Granite City Steel Division, is the National Steel president and chief executive officer.

learning, and growth experiences," Magac said. Magac went on to say that students need help in developing their talents.

"This isn't the first time this has happened..."

Vasil Eftimoff, administrative assistant for principal, says that the Granite City schools and a state hearing officer on expulsion and suspension cases, agreed that the Collinsville case is not the only case of this nature.

"I heard a similar case as a hearing officer for the state in a case from Peoria where a special education student received a five-day suspension for using foul language toward a substitute teacher. I ruled with the board of education, finding that the school district did not treat the student differently from other students, that the incident did not happen in a special education class and that the misbehavior was not due to the student's handicap. I understand that case is being appealed to the state appeals board."

"This is a battle going on throughout the country. There are similar cases in education, finding that the school district did not treat the student differently from other students, that the incident did not happen in a special education class and that the misbehavior was not due to the student's handicap. I understand that case is being appealed to the state appeals board."

He said Collinsville's main argument may be that the student was endangering or harming himself by smoking marijuana.

"Advocates hired by the feds and state are pushing this law. We have been very careful in Granite City to provide the rights to students and he said that if a special education student is to be removed from his class, he should be properly evaluated and offered an alternative education program, he believes.

(Special education students are entitled to have what is called an IEP, individualized education program. Evaluations must be made and experts from various disciplines consulted. Parents also are entitled to participate in writing the IEP.)

Kennedy said a federal court of appeals decision issued in January applies to the Collinsville situation. He said the court ruled that termination of educational services (expulsion) constitutes a change in educational placement, which is supposed to involve special procedures and decisions policy on drug abuse and, at the same time, not violate the rights of the special education students.

In Collinsville, the drug abuse policy has been tough and strictly enforced, partially as the result of the shooting of assistant high school principal Ron Ganschmiedt several years ago in a drug-related incident.

The real issue is whether problem students should receive special treatment or whether they should be forced to live under the same guidelines, and punishments, as other students.

"I don't think they should be handled with kid gloves. They don't want to be treated differently," Fred Hoffman, "Officer Friendly," of the Granite City program until April 6, (Renfro said the alternative was offered the day after the expulsion. No evaluation or special staff meeting was held before the student was suspended and expelled, Kennedy contended.

The parents rejected the alternate offers, which were an hour of homebound instruction per day or placement in a day center for behaviorally disturbed children.

Parents of special education students who do not like what a district offers can seek the help of a legal advocate, such as Kennedy. The Land of Lincoln Legal Assistance Foundation gets government grant funds to pay for representing such people.

Parents can seek to change the district's offer in several different ways. One way is to seek a due process hearing from the State Board of Education. This method was rejected because it takes too long; the student has been out of school since March 23, Kennedy said.

Other alternatives are to complain to the State Board of Education, the U.S. Board of Education, or take the district to court, Kennedy added.

The idea of alternative education does not sit well with Juvenile Officer Gagich, who believes that some students in the Granite City schools may be intentionally misbehaving just so they can get into the Coordinated Youth Services alternative education program, which is less "structured" than the classroom, he contends.

Perhaps one mother summarized the feelings of many when learning of the Collinsville case. She commented, "We are supposed to be teaching the special education students to live within society's rules, in the real world. How can we teach them to live within society's rules when they are letting them break those rules in school?"

Price pledges support to hospice legislative bill

Cong. Melvin Price of this district and State Reps. Sam Wolf of Granite City and Monroe Flinn of Cahokia were among federal and state officials attending a reception here Thursday to discuss ways new legislation may aid Hospice in caring for terminally ill patients.

The reception was held at the cafeteria of St. Elizabeth Medical Center, sponsored by Hospice of Madison County to urge support of a bill that has been introduced in the House which would declare terminally ill patients on disability and qualify them for Medicare under the Social Security act.

Such a measure, if passed, could assure up to $40 in Medicare benefits for each visit by a nurse. Hospice now charges $10 to $11 a visit, depending upon family income.

Hospice officials at the reception who discussed the matter with Price, state and local officials included Dr. Shabbir Safdar, founder of the program to provide home care for terminally ill patients, and Randall Irwin of the Hospice board.

Price promised he would aid the Hospice program and "do everything I can to help the legislation."

Also attending the reception and participating in the discussion were Mayor Paul Schuler of Granite City and Mayor Mike Sasyk of Madison.

Others included Chief of Police Don Bridick and Comptroller Al Hudzik, both of Madison; Dave Belleville's two hospitals also were in attendance to learn details of the Madison County program with a view toward establishing Hospice in St. Clair County.

3 hurt in crash

Three members of the family of James Marlette, 49, of 3040 Mockingbird Lane, were injured when their auto struck a ladder protruding from the side of the pickup truck of John Schafer, 3220 Johnson Road, on Pontoon Road at Franklin Avenue last week.

According to Schafer, who was eastbound, the ladder had been angled from the bed of the truck over the cab and slid to the left off the cab, so it was sticking out into the westbound lane. Before Schafer could correct the problem, the oncoming car's windshield struck the ladder, injuring the Marlettes.

Taken by a Granite City ambulance to St. Elizabeth Medical Center were James Marlette, 49, Julie, 14, and Jamie, 7. Julie was admitted and the father and son were released after emergency treatment.

TRESPASSING CHARGE After being asked several times to leave the El Gato Tavern, 18th Street and Delmar Avenue, and allegedly refusing and then starting an argument, Robert L. Crabtree, 45, of Affton, Mo., was arrested and charged with trespass to property at 11:40 p.m. Saturday. Police also had Crabtree's vehicle, which was parked in the middle of the street, towed away.

Bell exec speaks at BPW awards banquet

By VALERIE EVENDEN
of the Press-Record

Traditional perceptions about women in business still frequently stand in the way of attaining one's goals, but great strides have been made to alleviate some of the misconceptions concerning women in executive roles, Betsy Ann Plank, Illinois Bell assistant vice president—Corporate Communications, told a group of more than 50 business and professional women last week.

Miss Plank spoke at the Granite City Business and Professional Women's annual Public Relations and Awards Night banquet at Sunset Hills Country Club. The event also was highlighted with the presentation of BPW continuing education scholarships to two women and served to honor area media representatives.

Awarded the scholarship grants were the Rev. Charlotte "Chris" Zachary, pastor of the United Presbyterian Church in Madison, who is working toward her doctorate degree at Eden Seminary, St. Louis, and Janice Stern, a registered nurse, who is in the graduate studies program at St. Louis University.

Both grant recipients are members of the Granite City BPW Club.

Noting the "triumph of technology" achieved through the safe landing of the space shuttle last Monday, Miss Plank compared the breakthrough with her flight from Washington to St. Louis, which was two hours late.

"This portends a lot in the world today, and occurred despite my horoscope for today stating I would have 'Luck through travel,' she commented.

The speaker commended the local BPW club for its many programs, especially in areas involving students, professional development and aiding in the ratification of the Equal Rights Amendment.

She said women in business today, also are responsible for making critical decisions about themselves.

"She must not think of herself as a 'woman manager,' but as a 'manager.'"

"It is self defeating to dwell on obstacles one has encountered in the business world in the past, or those obstacles that are imagined. 'Sometimes we can be overly sensitive to misinterpretation of comments. I personally don't get hung up about vocabulary. Whether or not it is chairman or chairwoman or person, I don't care. These kinds of things don't bother me."

"What is important is equal pay for equal work and promotions made on merit," Miss Plank stated.

"Not being part of the 'old boy's network,' which runs from the men's room to the cafeteria. Or who you know and who is doing this and that, and what moves are being made, really doesn't matter too much," Miss Plank said.

She noted her involvement with The Chicago Network, an organization of the 100 leading women executives in the Chicago metropolitan area, of which she is the current chairman, as being greatly beneficial in meeting individuals from many fields—business, professional and the arts.

"This is the same kind of encounter with others from different fields that you get in this organization," she said.

"I would recommend that any woman in business today, who is planning to get married, should marry a saint."

"Marry someone who is supportive of your goals, as well as his own," she urged. "Today, marriage is not the end of a career," she stressed.

Miss Plank is married to Sherman V. Rosenfield, who she referred to as "a saint." She urged BPW members to serve as role models for younger women and to work even harder with students, "enabling them to see a whole range of careers open ahead."

To continue programs in the development of management skills and to recognize pioneers among women in the business and professional world.

"Let us look back to our roots. There were whole generations of women in the 1930's, the 1940's and even the 1950's, who really bootstrapped it."

"Let us remember them and say—she really did a magnificent job."

She serves on the board of the Girl Scouts of America and as vice president of the Girl Scouts of Chicago, which named her Volunteer of the Year in 1980.

She is the only person to have served as president of four public relations organizations in the Chicago area and is active in numerous civic endeavors including being a trustee of the YWCA and president of the Association Settlement House and United Christian Community, a coalition of nine community agencies.

Currently at Illinois Bell, she is in charge of employee communications—print, video-CCTV productions and face-to-face communications—which serves the company's 39,000 active employees and 13,000 retired employees.

During the program, musical selections were presented by Sue Ellen Houseman of Carrollton, Ill., a vocalist and guitarist, who was well received.

Rosalie Stern, BPW president, offered the welcome and introduced the guests.

The Rev. Zachary gave the invocation and Ruth Nicholas led the pledge to the flag.

Honored with "Pro" awards for enrolling three or more new members in the club during 1980-81.

Secretaries Week banquet Wednesday

Secretaries Week will be observed April 19-25, with Wednesday, April 22, designated as Secretaries Day. As its originator and founder in 1952, The Professional Secretaries International (previously known as The National Secretaries Association, International) continues to be the sole sponsor of Secretaries Week.

The Tri-Cities Chapter will observe Secretaries Day with a banquet, and it will be a combination Secretary of the Year and Executive of the Year awards dinner. These two events previously were celebrated separately but this year will be combined.

The dinner is scheduled at the St. Louis Metropolitan Bar Association Club on the 36th floor of Mercantile Tower in downtown St. Louis. A member of the local chapter of PSI will be selected the 1981 Secretary of the Year. Her selection is based upon the accumulation of points earned the past year in service to the Tri-Cities chapter.

Also to be honored will be the recently elected Executive of the Year. Candidates for this award were nominated by chapter members and voted upon. Identifies of the Secretary of the Year (SOTY) and the Boss of the Year (BOY) recipients are kept secret until announced at the dinner. The current SOTY is Mrs. Helen Gieszmann and the current BOY is Harry Cottrell, both of Madison Metal Decorating Co.

The featured speaker will be Dr. William Saigh, formerly a professor at the University of St. Louis and now at St. Louis University. Dr. Saigh is owner of the Lettuce Leaf Restaurant in St. Louis and Kansas City.

Mrs. Mary Gain, secretary to Keith L. Jackson, vice president and general manager of GSI Engineering (a division of General Steel Industries, Inc.), will serve as chairman of Secretaries Week. Interested persons are welcome to attend the dinner. Further information and reservations may be obtained by contacting Mrs. Gail L. Foley, CPS, Ralston Purina Co., at 314-882-2760.

In addition to the participation of nearly 800 chapters in every state of the United States and every province of Canada, Secretaries Week observances will be held in many foreign countries under the auspices of PSI Affiliates.

President Ronald Reagan, in recognition of Secretaries Week, sent the following message to all Professional Secretaries International chapters:

"Secretaries Week provides a special opportunity to recognize the invaluable contributions of the nation's secretaries to American business and government. Within any office, they provide the cohesive force that allows the engine of commerce to fulfill its goals. They are the 'ombudsman' of daily business life in the United States—organizing, communicating, and facilitating the work of our technological society."

"Today's secretaries are in ever-increasing demand, with many more areas of specialization leading the way to more executive status. In addition to their traditional duties, they are being called upon to learn a variety of new and advanced skills necessary to meet the needs of our ever-changing technology. The modern secretary, whose work is dedicated to the flow of information in our society, is a multi-talented individual in what is a rewarding, though often demanding field. They deserve our respect and admiration for their dedication to a trying and difficult profession."

"I salute America's secretaries and commend them for their important contributions to American life."

Safety program at Madison

The Madison Police and Fire departments have sponsored a safety program and poster contest in the elementary schools in Madison to help make the students safety conscious.

The winners from the four schools (Blair, Harris, Louis Baer and St. Mary's) participating in the poster contest have been announced. These were selected from the first, second and third place students in each home room at the individual schools.

The winners are: Jeffrey Podraza, a sixth grader at St. Mary's; first grader Laticia Freeman from Blair School; Warren Kostenski, a first grader at Harris School, and Louis Baer fourth grader Bertrand Fletcher.

Each of the four students received a bicycle for their efforts.

MISSED IT. Madison first baseman Rob Tarasovich reaches vainly for a wild throw the second game Saturday against Alton Marquette as an Explorer batter reaches safely. Marquette went on to win the second game 12-2 after beating Madison 6-5 in the first game.

State champs sweep Madison

By PETE HAYES

Sports Editor of the Press-Record
ALTON — Madison knew what it was up against in its doubleheader here Saturday. It knew it was playing the defending Class A state baseball champs, Alton Marquette. But it didn't seem to impress the Trojans much.

Madison had the desire and confidence, but not the hitting. The Explorers fought back to capture the opener, 6-5 and when on to rout Madison in the second game, using the 10-run rule, 12-2.

Marquette may have looked upon Madison as the start of a winning streak. The Explorers certainly weren't banking on a close game, and didn't let up until it had sent nine men to the plate. Trojan Ed Forister and Jim Broadway laced singles and Dave Kaminski drew a walk. There were no outs and Madison had the bases loaded. With that, Dan Stern cracked a base hit that scored Forister and Billy Papa poked a single for two more RBIs. The Trojans weren't about to stop now, they were having too much fun.

Forister started it all over again in the second with a lead-off walk. He was followed by four straight singles from Broadway, Jeff Niehaus, Kaminski and Stern. Niehaus and Kaminski picked up the RBI's and Madison was flying high with a 5-0 lead. Marquette head coach Greg Decourcy was forced to find relief help and it was the best move he made. Jim Witmore was brought in and with the Madison bases still loaded, he forced the next batter into a ground out and struck out the final two Trojans to end the inning.

Witmore proved to be the big key in Marquette's win. It was the spark the Trojans needed. He had eight in the first two innings, BEFORE Witmore came into the contest. He finished the game with five strike outs. Adding to that, the Trojans left 10 base runners. It was the spark the Explorers needed. They came up with their first run in the second, added another in the third and tacked on one more in the fourth. But the big blow was a three-run berrage in the fifth. "We might have taken Madison lightly, but I'm glad we came back like we did," said Decourcy. "Not for the win, but for a confidence builder. Maybe we'll put together some kind of winning streak." Marquette is now 5-5.

Despite the losing record, Trojan head coach John Paskus couldn't argue with the efforts of his team. "Playing the state champs didn't bother them (Madison)," said Paskus. "They (Marquette) might have taken us for granted. Decourcy has a lot of personnel to work with and when we stepped off the bus with only ten players, well, they probably thought they had a easy game."

"It was good to see that we were still hitting the ball. A couple of errors in the middle innings made the difference, though." It wasn't errors that plagued the Trojans in the second game, it was hits. They had just two. In fact, through four innings, only three Trojans had even managed to hit the ball into fair territory. Madison was simply baffled by Marquette's starting pitcher Ned Schulz.

"Schulz is a tough pitcher," said Paskus. "He threw the ball real well and kept us off our strides. I believe he was 12-1 last year. But, Marquette is a very good ball team and out of our class."

In their efforts to solve Schulz, 12 Trojans went down on strikes. Of the first 10 batters he faced, Schulz struck out nine. But according to Decourcy, Schulz was not yet back into the full swing of pitching, which was evident when he tired in the fifth inning.

"We still need to work him (Schulz)," said Decourcy. "He just got tired from inactivity. Through five innings, he threw 77 pitches which is still good, though."

Madison used Schulz's don't-fall as best it could. The fifth inning marked a lot of firsts for the Trojans. They got their first hit, walk, and run and made Marquette commit its first error. Add that all up and the Trojans had come away with two runs. But it only prolonged the game an extra inning. Marquette was leading 9-2. The Explorers tagged Trojan starting pitcher Papa with three runs in the opening frame, three more in the second and fourth and two in the fifth. They ended the contest after six innings with another tally, putting the 10-run rule into effect.

Warriors boot three straight

Special to the Press-Record

MORTON — It was a bad weekend for the Granite City South baseball Warriors. Let's put it this way: Last Wednesday's rout of the South-Rich East game was the high point of the three-day road trip through the Chicago area.

Here Friday, the Warriors dropped a doubleheader to Morton High School. All five of Morton High's runs were unearned. To add insult to injury, South Warrior pitcher Randy Cann pitched a two-hitter. But he lost the game. But it was a fitting ending to the demoralizing road trip.

Thursday, the Warriors dropped a doubleheader to Skokie Niles West High. The first game was a 3-1 setback. All four runs scored in the contest were unearned. In the second game, Niles West exploded and bombed the Warriors 13-1 in a game called after five innings because of the ten-run rule. In Friday's rout to Morton High, Cann pitched brilliantly. "But he didn't get any support," said South head coach John Modica. "He didn't do too bad a job on the mound but he didn't have anything behind him."

To put it simply, Modica wasn't pleased with the road trip. Far from it. "I think we've got the talent to compete with most teams right now," he said. "But I don't know what it's going to take." Modica, understandably, didn't really want to talk too much about the road trip.

The three losses stretched the Warriors' losing streak to five, going back to last Monday's doubleheader loss at Edwardsville. "We scored an unearned run in the first game at Edwardsville," said Modica. "Then we score six in the second and lose the game. But on our trip, it's back to one unearned run against Skokie, then another unearned run."

"We didn't even score against Morton," he said. "They (Morton) don't even hit the ball out of the infield once and they score five unearned runs."

In the first game against Niles West, the host team took a 3-0 lead before the Warriors came back to make it closer on an unearned run of their own. After singling, David Modrusic went to second on a bunt single and scored on a wild throw from the second baseman. That was the last good thing that happened to the Warriors. The rest of the weekend would be all downhill.

In that first game, Rich Daily pitched a good game, even though he took the loss, according to Modica. In the second game, Steve Manka was the losing pitcher.

The three losses dropped the Warriors' overall win-loss record to 7-11. "But we're still just 2-1 in the (Gateway East) conference," said Modica. "That race is still wide open."

The Warriors were to have played this afternoon at Edwardsville. However, the rains that have drenched the area over the weekend appeared to have put a damper on plans at pregame. Tomorrow, South is scheduled to host non-conference foe New Athens at the South Sports Complex beginning at 4 p.m. in a single game.

Cougars are latest victims of EIU slugger Tim Tyznarski

CHARLESTON — Sunday's scheduled game between SIU-Edwardsville's baseball Cougars and the Panthers of Eastern Illinois University was rained out. And judging by the way things went for SIU-E Saturday afternoon, it may have been a good thing.

At least Tim Tyznarski didn't have a chance to bat against them. Eastern's Tyznarski clubbed a three-run homer in the bottom of the seventh to lift the Panthers to an 8-7 come-from-behind victory over the Cougars in the second game of a doubleheader. The home run by the Eastern slugger capped off a four-run seventh inning for the Panthers. The second game loss came on the heels of an 8-2 Panther victory in the first game.

Tyznarski, a junior third baseman, has hit twelve home runs and is batting at a red-hot .550 pace. He could be destined to be the most prolific slugger ever in Eastern Illinois University's illustrious baseball history.

Ted Smith served up the pitch that Tyznarski clubbed over the rightfield fence and thus took the loss for the Cougars. But Smith deserved a better fate. He was but one of four hurlers the Cougars used. Starter Tom Ritzheimer looked sharp for the first six innings. He cruised into the seventh with a 7-4 lead after his teammates had given him four runs in the first inning, one in the third, one in the sixth and one in the top of the seventh.

But the SIU-E fielders' gloves turned to stone. An error by Cougar third baseman Jay Jurckman opened the door for the Panthers' comeback. SIU-E coach Gary Collins lifted Ritzheimer with two men on base and nobody out in favor of Granite Cityan Doug Rains. But he faced one batter, Robin Seitzer, whom he walked to load the bases. In came Smith, who threw wild pitch with Tyznarski at the plate, allowing Brian Jones to score from third base. Then Tyznarski sent

State hit powers GC girls

By TOM SCHOCKER of the Press-Record

GRANITE CITY — If Karen Spencer's arm can hold out, the Granite City South girls softball should be making some noise this season. But right now, Spencer could use a little bit of rest.

As the Warriors' one and only bonafide pitcher, Spencer was put through the ringer over the weekend. After losing a heartbreaking 5-3 game in extra innings to Cahokia Thursday, South worked its own late inning special, beating Belleville East here Friday in eight innings, 7-6.

According to Warrior head coach Pat Yates, it's not all that bad having to be the starting pitcher every game. It's the time in-between games that makes the difference. "It's tough when you have back-to-back games," said Yates. "Karen is the only pitcher we have with any type of speed." But you can only do so much before its starts to catch up with you. Spencer experienced that feeling in the sixth inning against East.

With the Cahokia loss probably still lingering on its mind, South played like it wanted to get back at someone — anyone at all. So the Warriors shelled East 7-6 with two runs in the second and four in the third. Chris Boyd picked up the RBI's in the second inning when she singled home Susan Jeffries and Nita Graham. The fourth belonged to Paye Willis (GCS).

Ann Chappely reached base on an error. Jeffries on a sacrifice and Vickie Smith on a fielder's choice. The stage was set for Willis with the bases loaded and one out. And she delivered, by drilling a shot down into the leftfield corner. She scooped around the bases and touched the plate with a grand slam home run.

After five innings, South led 1-1 and all Spencer had to do was hold on to the lead. After eight innings the day before, the task was just under impossible. She only gave up one hit in the sixth, but walked three batters including East's fifth run. The Lancers scored four times in the inning and suddenly it wasn't South's game anymore.

"She (Spencer) got tired in the sixth and seventh innings," said Yates. "I came weary to bringing Nita Buster in for relief." It was a combination of both Spencer and the Warriors defense that gave East another hit.

Spencer's fifth walk of the game in the seventh really gave South a lot of troubles. But it wasn't all her doings. The Warriors had two outs going for them, but an error allowed an East runner on second to score and send the game into extra innings.

The Lancers even put the potential winning run in the fourth and fifth stolen bases of the game, she raced home when Jeffries grounder was bobbled. It was East's seventh error.

"It's a tough loss," said East head coach Rob Stephenson. "It's even tougher when you beat yourself. A lot of their (South) runs were unearned. It had to come back because these mistakes will come back and bite you. South's a real fine ball club. They aren't going to beat themselves."

The miscue enabled the Warriors to hit down into their fifth victory of the season against just one loss. "It was a nice win, because we lost one in extra innings Friday," said Yates.

South's only defeat thus far this season was a difficult one to take. For one thing, the Warriors had already beaten Cahokia just one loss in the year by the same 5-3 score. For another thing, it was a big Gateway East Conference game.

"Traditionally Cahokia has been a good ball team," said Yates. "Everybody wants to beat them." But the Warriors couldn't give Cahokia all the credit. They beat themselves.

The game could have been summed up in the Comanche third inning. Cahokia took the early lead 2-0 on four South errors. "One bad inning with errors really hurt us," said Yates. "If we can get the bats going, we can afford a few errors. We didn't hit their pitching last time, but we did have any errors either."

Local bowling league becoming '300' haven

By TOM SCHOCKER

GRANITE CITY — Perfection is a hard thing to accomplish. Everyone would like to try and be perfect in what they do. It's not always that easy. However, some bowlers at Bowland Lanes in Granite City seem to come very close to that trait every time they step on to the lanes.

It's thrilling to watch someone bowl a 300 game. It's almost artistry in motion. It's 12 straight strikes. It looks nice and sometimes it's easier than one might think. Or at least the members of the H.J. Shannott Painting team believe so.

The seven-man team is comprised of Don Shannott, Gary Rich, Dave Hunka, Steve Bradbury, Adron Cahill, Don Ray and Terry Clark. Of these men, Rich, Hunka and Bradbury have thrown AT LEAST one 300 game. According to Bradbury's general manager Chuck Blume, 300 games aren't the toughest to achieve.

"Bowing a 300 game is hard," said Blume. "But throwing an 800 series is more difficult." The series is a total of three games, which totals about an 250 average for each game. Easier said than done, right. But one member of the Shannott team has even done this.

Just two weeks ago on April 4 at Bowland, Hunka rolled games of 276, 268 and 278 for an 822 series. During that night also, the Shannott team of Bradbury at a 634 series, Cahill at 690, Rich at 708, Ray at 613 and Hunka's score unofficially recorded the fourth best team score in the nation at 3585. It broke their sixth ranked total of 3571 set back in October of 1980.

The bowling ability of these seven men is remarkable. To add to this feat, Bradbury has rolled three 300 games, Rich has two to his credit and Hunka has thrown one. In the 3571 series, Don Shannott came up short with a 299 game. But these men, who considered by many as one of the best teams in the St. Louis area, aren't the only ones burning up the lanes at Bowland. Since the fall season, which began in August of last year, Don Haddix and John Nolan in December, Allan Newberry in January, Sam Manooch in February, Randy Choat and Bernard Simmons in March, Wayne Lungford, Dwight Gassett (19 years old) and Dave Dupont this month have all rolled 300 games. During the season also, Norv Baker threw an 805 series last October.

And in a two month period of June and July in the spring season last year, Randy Odom, Glenn Wilson, Chuck Mazzola, Bill Sansone, Steve Siegel and Greg Voss each bowled a 300 game. These six and the incredible 16 during the current fall season, all at Bowland, adds up to an awful lot of good bowlers. But is it the bowlers or just Bowland?

"This house (Bowland) has been noted for shooting big scores," said Don Shannott. "I think sometimes it's the way they treat the lanes. They want good scores." Manager Blume feels the same way.

"According to the American Bowling Congress (ABC), our lanes meet or Blume. "If you get too many good scores, they think something's wrong. But we take extremely good care of the lanes."

Blume noted that three most important things that makes the atmosphere for good bowling is how the machines run, the lane conditions and the cleanliness of the house. "If the machines don't work right, you can't bowl," said Blume. "You have to have good hitting to bowl well and if the place looks bad, people won't want to come in. But I have to give recognition, it's the bowlers."

Blume does tend very well to the lanes. Just last August, before the fall season was to begin, the lanes at Bowland were sanded down and re waxed. The first night of play on the newly finished lanes, Steve Bradbury rolled a 300 game. Another incident focused on Bernard Simmons, who had come away from World War II with an arm injury. His doctors told him the two things he wasn't going to be able to do was use a hammer and bowl. In March at Bowland, Simmons threw a 300 game.

So, why at Bowland and not some other bowling lane? "Most of the good bowlers in the St. Louis area come out here because they know they can throw big scores," said Hunka. "Almost 99 percent of the time I can step onto a lane and throw strikes, but the best leagues in the house bowl on three certain lanes. And three-quarters of the 300 games bowled in the fall season, have been shot on these lanes."

During his discussion, Hunka was bowling with the Shannott team and had 10 straight strikes before finishing with a 289. And on the same lanes he mentioned. "The house makes the bowler and the bowler makes the house," said Blume.

Whether it's the bowler or Bowland, you can be sure of one thing. If you want to see some good bowling, let Bowland show you how it's done.

Cougars 3rd in free throws

EDWARDSVILLE — Ted Smith, star wing-forward on the Southern Illinois basketball team, has won the national championship at the free throw line among members of the NCAA Division II schools for the recently completed cage campaign.

Smith, a sophomore from Teutopolis, averaged 91.8 percent at the charity line to edge Bruce Alexander of Youngstown (Ohio) State, who finished at a 91.1 clip. Scott Kabbes, Smith's teammate on the SIUE cage team, finished second last year in the national free throw rankings. Both are sophomores. Kabbes came from St. Anthony's High at Effingham.

Paced by Smith's accuracy at the charity stripe, the Cougar cagers finished third nationally in the overall team free throw shooting race: a 76.2 average, making good on 321 of 421 attempts. Philadelphia Textile just barely edged out SIUE with a team average of 76.5. Coppin State of Maryland posted a 78.0 average to capture the first-place laurels.

SPRINGFIELD, Mo. — Four area products are again playing key roles on the Southwest Missouri State University baseball team. The baseball Bears are off to a fast start with an 18-3 record.

Kirk Champion, a graduate of Granite City South High, along with Keith Guttin are assistant coaches of the team under head coach Bill Rowe. Keith Champion, Kirk's brother, is a senior catcher, also a graduate of South. He is an SMS co-captain and is sharing the starting catching duties with Rusty Hileganek. The returning Missouri Intercollegiate Athletic Association first team catcher from last season, Champion is currently hitting .450 with three doubles, three triples and 11 RBI.

John Vrenick is a freshman infielder, also a South High grad. He suffered a broken finger in practice just before the start of the season and made his first appearance last week in a game as a pinch runner after returning from his injury.

Jerry Logan, a senior pitcher, is a graduate of Edwardsville High. He has been in six games on the mound for the Bears with two starts. He has a 2-0 record with one save.

One-hitter for Forister

LIVINGSTON — Ed Forister pitched a sparkling one-hitter for the Madison baseball team and the Trojans recorded their second win of the year here Thursday, shutting out Livingston 2-0.

Livingston threatened just one time, advancing a runner to third in the fifth inning, but Forister was over-powering. Walking just four batters, he struck out eight men.

With Forister hurling smoke, it took Madison one inning to post the win. Billy Papa single in the fifth and stole second. Rob Tarasovich followed with a single, moving Papa to third and scooted down to second on a passed ball. Dan Stern didn't waste any time and cracked a single for two RBIs.

Althoff tops Steelers in extra-inning game

By TOM SCHOCKER

GRANITE CITY Mary Kloess had to stop the rally. So, she went to her bench. She can't feel thankful she made the change when she did.

Kloess, the Belleville All-American softball pitcher, had to stop Granite City North's seventh inning outburst. She brought in a relief pitcher and with three pitches, Althoff was out of the inning. It went on to win the Gateway East Conference game from the Steelers 14-11 in eight innings here Thursday.

You can't win if you give the game away and North did just that. It gave Althoff all the runs it needed to give up. The Steelers earned every run they scored, though. They banded out 10 hits enroute to their 11 run output. But Althoff had the easy road. It equally scored high, enough to win. However, the Crusaders only had to come up with four base hits. North gave them 13 walks and committed five errors.

Bills sign forward

ST. LOUIS — Andre Craig, a 6-10 115-lb. forward from Cumberland Community College in Lebanon, Tenn., has signed a national letter of intent to play basketball at St. Louis University. It was announced by Coach Ron Ekker today.

Craig attended Cumberland C.C. for just one year and will have three years of eligibility remaining for the Billikens. Craig averaged 16.2 points and 11.3 rebounds per game last year while leading the Bulldogs to a 17-11 record last season.

A native of Birmingham, Alabama, Craig was an all-state at Alabama's selection two years ago while attending Jackson-Olin High School in Birmingham. "We feel that Andre is an outstanding prospect,"

"It's the same problem," said North head coach Gus Lignoul. "The other team scores a lot of runs without scoring. They just don't score. They score eight runs without a hit." You read it right. Althoff scored a run in the fifth, three in the sixth and four in the seventh eighth frame without scraping up a base hit.

This might tell you something. North doesn't have a pitcher. That is, a valid hurler with some speed. "Adrienne Pumphrey could be our best pitcher," said Lignoul. "Even though she doesn't like to pitch."

She collected four base hits in five trips to the plate including the tying RBI in the seventh inning. She also scored a run. But just about every Steelers scored a run. While Althoff was exploding for three and four runs every other inning, North was content with single tallies every inning. It helped get the Steelers back in the game.

The Crusaders jumped on starting pitcher Jill Bledsoe for three runs in the first and second innings. But North just chipped away at the lead. Bledsoe scored in the third for the Steelers after she had tripped. Lisa Lilly came home in the second on an RBI by Monica Fanning. Connie Siebert scored in the third and Fanning in the fourth after she had tripped and was sacrificed home by Bledsoe.

As soon as Althoff's scoring tailed off, North had its turn at a big inning. Siebert, Pumphrey and Lilly scored in the fifth and Fanning picked up her second RBI. The run comfortable six run margin for the Crusaders had disappeared. The score was now 7-7. However, North's troubles were about to start.

Althoff used four sixth inning walks to score three runs on no hits. Again the Steelers weren't through.

North sent nine girls to plate in its seventh. Fanning, Bledsoe and Blockberger touched home as E.J. Lybarger, Siebert and Pumphrey picked up the RBIs. After tying the game, North still had the base loaded with the winning run on third. Kloess then went to her ace.

Tammy Tolbert inherited the jam as freshman Michelle Marschand, Althoff's starting pitcher, departed. Tolbert threw three pitches, all strikes, and bailed her team out. "She (Marschand) hasn't finished or won a game yet," said Kloess. "I just wanted to leave her in as long as possible. But Tammy did a good job, being that she has been hurting with a back problem. We have had trouble with North before. We just can't adjust to their pitching."

Althoff didn't have to make many adjustments in the first extra frame. The previous inning was just too much for the Steelers as they gave Althoff four more runs on no hits including three more walks.

"We just don't have one pitcher that can throw with consistency," said Lignoul. "I'm not talking velocity. I just want strikes. If they (Althoff) would have hit the ball, we, at least, would have had a better chance. There's no defense against walks."

Hennrich still slugging away

BLOOMINGTON — The Illinois State University baseball team has won as many games in its first 24 decisions in 1981 as it did all last season in 43 games. And Granite City's Tom Hennrich has been very instrumental.

Redbird coach Duffy Bass also attributes much of the improvement to the consistent play of the infield. Three of the four regular infielders are veteran Redbird starters, while the fourth recently found a new position.

Third baseman Mike Bock of Ripon, Wis., is the all-time Redbird home run king with 15. Through the first half of 1981, the senior led the squad in homers (5) and runs batted in (22). Bass likes the other contributions Bock makes.

"His leadership has been a big factor for us," said Bass. "He's not just an elected captain, but a player who has earned the respect and admiration of his teammates."

"He'd be flattered if chosen in the (pro) draft," said Bass. Bock was recommended by former ISU football player and coach John Rauschenberger when Rauschenberger was on the football staff at Ripon College.

Junior shortstop Tom Hennrich is the second time infielder to come out of Granite City's South High School in recent years. Hennrich will pass former Redbird second baseman Greg Linhart's career hit record of 132 with his first hit in a series against Indiana State over Easter weekend.

Linhart, also from Granite City South, played professionally in the Philadelphia Phillies organization.

"Tommy has been the starting shortstop here since he stepped on campus," said Bass. "He came from a great program under Babe Champion (now a Phillies scout) in high school."

Bass likes Hennrich's fundamental skills. "He's a leader by example," said Bass. "He's always taking more ground balls in practice, and he's always finding a way to get more batting practice."

Hennrich's practice has paid off. He's a career .335 hitter and could gather two or three more career records at ISU before graduation.

Second baseman Rick Powell played on a state tournament high school team at Mundelein, but was overlooked somewhat because of his size. Not by Bass, though. "Ricky doesn't like to have his size mentioned," said Bass. "He's a great leadoff hitter because he's patient and will take pitches. He showed so much during the spring of his freshman season that I had to play him. It's turned out well."

Junior Brian Romac of Homewood (Homewood-Flossmoor) earned the starting job at first base and was hitting close to .300 when he broke a bone in his hand in a game at Memphis State. "I feel so bad for Brian because he'd worked hard and was hitting well when he got hurt," said Bass. "It's tough for him, but he'll be back next year."

Romac's successor is sophomore Brian Smith of Springfield (Lanphier), who had been a third baseman and designated hitter.

"Brian has not had an easy transition," said Bass. "He's learning and progressing all the time in the field, plus he has a great attitude."

For the most part, Smith's ability to produce runs forced Bass to give him a chance when Romac was hurt.

The total infield picture for the Redbirds has been bright all season. "Just look at the key spots they have in the batting order and you'll see what they do for us offensively," said Bass. "Our pitchers have confidence in their ability to make plays and part of our pitching improvement is a greater number of ground ball outs."

Other than those two changes, the tournament will be relatively the same as in previous years. In addition to SIUE, the teams participating will be: St. Francis College (Joliet), Eastern Illinois University (Charleston), University of Illinois-Chicago Circle, DePaul University, Bradley University and Northwestern University.

At this point, Jones has no prediction as to how the tourney will go. "We still have a long season ahead of us," he said. The Cougars are the defending state champions.

YMCA Sports

GRANITE CITY — Fitness classes will begin a new session at the YMCA the week of April 27. Classes will be offered in yoga, swim-nastics, and senior fitness, and will meet for four weeks.

Noon yoga and fitness will be taught by Ellen Wilson. The class meets on Mondays, Tuesdays, and Thursdays from 12 to 12:45 p.m. The cost is $2 for YMCA members, and $12 for non-members.

Local girl receives second

Miss Diane Dorste, 24, daughter of Mrs. Virginia Pruitt of Granite City and George Dorste Sr. of Madison, is the recipient of a special second-place silver medal in the Illinois Special Olympics bowling event for the handicapped.

What makes this presentation special from the others made on the day of the event is that Miss Dorste did not actually participate in the tournament.

About two weeks before the event she suffered severe burns to her left leg which made her participation impossible.

Miss Dorste, an employee for four years at OATH, Inc., 612 State St., Madison, had been preparing for some time to bowl in the Olympics this year and had hoped to win a medal in her division. Her accident prevented her participating in the event and dashed her hopes of a medal.

Knowing of her great desire to win a medal at the Olympics and her ambitious practice leading up to the final tournament, Wayne Johnson, a worker at OATH began his search of finding some way for Diane to get some type of award for her hard work and diligence.

He contacted the Special Olympics committee and told Diane's story, especially about her accident. The committee decided to accept scores from previous games she had bowled and to compare these scores and their average to those scored by the participants during the Olympics.

Approximately 540 persons participated in the bowling event. Diane was to be in the 20-29 age group in which about 120 persons bowled. After the totals and averages were compiled, the committee contacted Johnson and told him that she had won a medal and would be presenting it to her.

The presentation was made last week in her hospital room at St. Elizabeth Medical Center by Johnson and Pam Gunster, a member of the Special Olympics committee.

Biology project gives first-hand knowledge

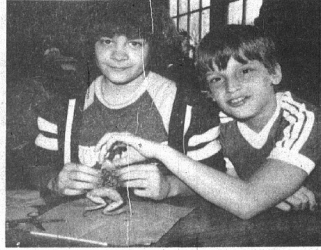

Do frogs have teeth? How are the organ systems of a frog similar to those of other vertebrates and what can you learn about the structure and function of higher organisms by dissecting frogs?

Most of the answers were discovered by pupils in the Intermediate Idea Lab at Niedringhaus School while performing various activities during the past two weeks.

The biology project, usually reserved for high school students, was carried out under the supervision of team teachers, Mrs. Julia Matosian and Mrs. Chris Hoff, with the assistance of Principal Harry Briggs.

Liz Weekback and Myles Epperson delve deeper into the dissecting procedure.

Trying to expand a frog's lungs, at lower left, are Julie Hellrich, Gina Roddy, using a straw, Mrs. Matosian, Catherine Aleman and Michelle Tillman.

At lower right, Kerry Martin, Mrs. Hoff and James Barron are observing the position of the frog's tongue.

Other students taking part in the project were Liz Oyen, Becky Burnmeister, Eddie Bodnam, Keith Tester, Claudia Kachigian and Debbie Burnmeister.

The Idea Labs in District 9 are under the direction of Mrs. Merna Musterman, coordinator of the Gifted Program. Granite City has been cited as one of 24 districts having an exemplary program throughout the state.

Madison County paves way for 'winner take all' vote

By JUDY TAPLIN
The Madison County board has passed an ordinance which it hopes will resolve the current impasse over union representation of 400 county employees.

The ordinance provides for an election by the county if Teamsters Local 525 has signed up 30 percent of those 400 persons. The election would determine which union would negotiate with the county for all 400.

The ordinance states that the union losing the election must wait two years before making another attempt. The county board approved the ordinance after an unusual session last week in which representatives of both the Teamsters and Local 799 of the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees were allowed to address the board.

Because AFSCME can be considered to have an existing contract with the county—even though it has not been working under a contract since Dec. 1—it does not have to show support of 30 percent of the 400, according to Madison County Assistant State's Attorney Marshall "Zeke" Smith.

However, Smith told a reporter he expected Local 799 will be out signing up county employees to indicate its own strength. The Teamsters submitted their signature cards Thursday and vouched that there are more than the required number of signatures and all have been signed within the last six months, the period of time required by the county ordinance.

The county board's action Wednesday was consistent with its stated desire to negotiate with only one union.

Ironically, a Teamster effort last year to have AFSCME and force an election ended up with the two unions agreeing to divvy the 400 employees and to ask the county to recognize both unions.

The county refused to do so, and urged an election.

Bill Brandt, attorney for the Teamsters but speaking for both groups, sought to explain to the county board Wednesday why an election couldn't be held.

He said the Illinois Department of Labor would not conduct an election unless all three parties—the Teamsters, Local 799 and the county—agreed.

Brandt said an election would pit the two unions against each other.

County Board Chairman Nelson Hagnauer told Brandt the county board's concern was with the fact that when two unions agree on which employees to represent, "we're not giving the people we're talking about a chance to decide who they want to belong to."

County Board member Alan Danz, noted that every member of the county board had won his job by an election. He said almost every county employee he had talked to was in favor of a union election. Smith said passage of the ordinance was the only way an election could be held without the consent of all three parties.

The board then passed the measure.

Approximately 230 of the 400 employees are in AFSCME. The rest have been bargained for by the union.

2-year rainfall figures 17 inches below normal

The drought in much of the U.S. farm belt has taken on near frightening dimensions, data from an agricultural weather station at Southern Illinois University-Carbondale suggests.

Data collected daily over the past two years indicate that Southern Illinois is at least 17 inches behind normal in rainfall for the past year. Plant and soil scientist Keith Leasure of the SIUC School of Agriculture's 40-year average rainfall base for the area.

Retired employees plan dinner dance

The regular monthly luncheon meeting of Chapter 1067, National Association of Retired Federal Employees, was conducted by Larry Hengehold, president, at Charlie's Restaurant last week.

After the invocation and pledge of allegiance to the flag, luncheon was served to 60 in attendance.

President Hengehold recognized those members having birthdays in April. Harry McClintock gave the legislative report and spoke on the subjects of the cost of living index and annual dues.

Georgia McMillan, Service Officer, gave a report on regulations received from Washington. The Sunshine Committee report was made by Mayme Alnow and Program Chairman Dorothy Sheppard announced plans are being made for a dinner theater meeting in the future. Mrs. Tharah Erney will be another chapter delegate to attend the state convention in Mattoon, Ill., in May.

President Hengehold reminded members that new members should be recruited and the NARFE membership slogan for 1981 is "One for all."

Bertha Dudley was reinstated as a member and Marli Ebrecht won the special attendance prize.

The next regular meeting will be held at 11:30 a.m. at Charlie's Restaurant on May 11.

UNDERCOATING—RALPH'S TEXACO 2nd & MADISON AVE.

Other information indicates that much of Illinois shares the problem of extended drought. A recent report by the Illinois Cooperative Crop Reporting Service listed 87 percent of the state's farmers reporting soil moisture in short supply.

In parts of Southern Illinois 100 percent of the reporting farmers noted inadequate soil moisture conditions.

Agronomists say as much as 15 inches of rain is needed to recharge, or replenish, the soil moisture, but we have to have that over a long period. And the trend now is not toward normal rainfall periods," Leasure said.

The arts and band departments at Granite City High School South are coordinating their efforts to present a Fine Arts Festival at the school on Tuesday, April 28, scheduled from 7 to 9 p.m.

The art department are planning exhibits of students' works done throughout the school year which include drawings, paintings, ceramics, oil paintings, jewelry, sculpture and printmaking. All three art rooms will be open for the scheduled times where undergraduate art work will be displayed.

Graduating seniors with majors in art will have their own individual displays set up in their main hallways at the school.

The concert band will perform its final concert of the year in the auditorium at 8 p.m. A variety of musical arrangements will be featured during the touring presentation. Admission to the concert will be 75 cents for adults and 35 cents for children.

Community Clothing Center needs items

The United Way Community Service Clothing Center is seeking donations of various items for distribution in the Quad-City area.

George Cook, AFL-CIO Community Services director, said this week the center is "in need of good, reusable clothing and shoes in all sizes, but especially for boys between the ages of 6 years and 12."

There are several convenient locations in the Quad-Cities which have been designated as depositories for donated items, Cook stressed.

The items may be left at Granite City Community Service Center, 1234 Niedringhaus Ave., Madison County Community Service Center, 408 Madison Ave., Madison, Pontoon Community Services Center, 3810 Highway 111, Madison County Urban League, 306 Broadway, Venice; or Catholic Charities, 2021 Delmar Ave.

Further information about the program may be obtained by calling the GC Community Service Center at 876-2383.

Ways to save energy

By CATHERINE MAUCK
County Home Adviser

Build energy efficiency into your new home and save money.

Building an energy-efficient home may cost more initially, but you'll be paid back in added comfort and lower utility bills. Here are some energy-saving measures you can take when building.

Don't build a house larger than your family needs. The larger the house, the more energy required to heat and cool it. Design the house so that a minimum of outside surface is exposed. A square floor plan has the least exterior surface and therefore loses less energy than a spread-out ranch-style home.

Build a house that can benefit the most from solar heat. Orient the house so that its long axis runs east and west rather than north and south. Plan more windows on the south side to take advantage of the sunlight. Install as few windows as possible on the north wall, as no solar heat gain can be realized here.

Because glass is a poor insulator, decide on the minimum number of windows you need. Use carefully fitted double-pane triple glass windows. Install windows you can open for natural ventilation in mild weather.

The living areas should be located in the southern and eastern portions of the home. The sleeping areas should be on the southern and western sides. The kitchen, laundry and bathrooms can be located on the north side where there are small windows.

The best place for an attached garage is on the house's west or north side. The garage will then shield the house from the bitter northwest winter winds. If it is on the west side it also will help protect against the hot summer sun.

Installing insulation will never be as easy as when the house is being built, so don't skimp. Use a minimum R-11 insulation in stud walls, R-30 for ceilings and R-11 for floors. Stuff insulation into every possible crack and opening. At current fuel costs, you'll be repaid many times over the years.

CAR TAKEN, BURNED

Warns against 'crippling' tax on U.S. barge industry

Legislation just introduced in Congress would be grossly unfair and crippling to the nation's barge transportation industry, the head of one of the largest barge operations said Thursday.

Thomas J. Barta, president of the St. Louis-based Valley Line Company, the nation's third largest inland barge operator and subsidiary of Chromalloy American Corporation, leveled the charge in remarks at a Missouri Highway and Transportation Commission Conference in Jefferson City, Mo.

Barta took issue with two bills introduced April 1 in the U.S. House of Representatives which would effectively eliminate into effect only last October, replacing it with a tax seven to eight times more than the present levy, he said. Other forms of transportation — railroads, truck lines and other common carriers — would not be affected by the measure.

The proposed legislation, H.R. 2899 and 2893, would abruptly eliminate all federal aid to commercial barge traffic and require user fees to provide for full recovery of operation, maintenance and construction costs on the inland waterways after Oct. 1, 1981.

The present waterway user tax was passed in 1970 and became effective in late 1980. It levies a four-cent-per-gallon fuel tax now, which will escalate to 10 cents per gallon by 1985. Any further escalation was to have come only after Congress studied the impact of the tax, including the dimension of competitive equity between the various modes of transportation, Barta said.

The new measure before Congress ruins any prospect for competitive equity with railroads and other associated industries not included.

"If I can say to my friends in the barge industry that all traffic would pay and that competitive equity would be assured, I remove a natural objective. However, if I say that your (barge) traffic will pay beginning in October of this year but that aids to your competitors may or may not be eliminated some time in the future or may not be required to pay as well, then I have a considerable problem," said Barta.

"Clearly, there must be firm linkage between a charge on barge commercial traffic and a charge on rail commercial traffic for federal aid if the pledge of even-handed treatment is to be observed," he continued.

Barta urged that in-progress studies of the economic and competitive impact of the current waterway user tax be completed and evaluated prior to any new legislation being enacted, and that the fuel tax presently applied to barge lines should also be applied to railroads.

He noted that while barge lines and railroads traditionally have been vigorous competitors, "We also tend to be each other's best customers. Railroads bring coal and grain to riverbanks and barges take it from there. Chemicals, fertilizers and many other commodities come up from the Gulf by barge and the railroads take the traffic from the riverbank. Rail-water cooperation is increasing," he said.

Barta predicted that the trend would continue, sparked by the export of U.S. coal from reserves in Mid-America to Europe and Asia and the steady expansion of grain exports abroad, resulting in tens of millions of tons of new traffic for the Mississippi River in the future.

Port board awards railroad contract

The Tri-City Port Authority in a meeting last week approved a motion to award a contract for railroad maintenance and in another motion increased its overall liability insurance.

The railroad maintenance contract went to American Track & Supply Co. of Venice on a scale of cost that will be incurred only when work is done. No fixed figure or estimate was announced.

The maintenance contract was held last year by Kelly Track & Supply Co. of St. Louis.

The board took no action on awarding a contract for construction of a new office facility. Carl Ranft, manager of the Port District, said a special meeting of the board probably will be called to award the contract for which the district has seven bids ranging from $427,711 by C.D. Peters Construction Co. to a total of $692,000 by S.M. Wilson Co.

Bids for the office structure received the bids in an earlier meeting. Although 22 sets of specifications were obtained, only seven placed a bid.

They were turned over to Port Engineer Jerry Lavelle for study and a recommendation and the board authorized the architect to study the bids to see if specifications were followed. Ranft said that according to a report by Oscar Nazetta the port is considered a landlord to its tenants and therefore could be responsible for liability incurred by its tenants.

WINDOWS, DOG GONE
Two unidentified young boys stole a $300 St. Bernard dog named Tempest and also took two $25 aluminum-frame storm door glasses and damaged nine windows at the home of Raymond Sampson Jr., 2825 Warren Ave. A television cable there was cut. The pet dog, nine months old, is brown and white; it is 30 inches tall and weighs 90 pounds.

THIEF TAKES TOOLS
A thief took a large wheelbarrow, five hammers, three shovels, two chalklines, a water cooler and a padlock from a large tool storage bin, it was discovered last week. The owner was the C. D. Peters Construction Co. and the location was the Pre-Coat Metals plant, Highway Three and Scheffer Road.

Secretaries hear two employers

Donna Cann and Charles Spratt

Spratt-Cann

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lee Cann, 516 English Place, are announcing the engagement of their daughter, Miss Donna Jean Cann to Charles William Spratt Sr., 2142 Lee Ave.

The groom-elect is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Spratt, 1228 N. Pennsylvania, Shawnee, Okla.

Miss Cann is a 1974 graduate of North High School and also graduated from Joseph's Beauty School. She is now employed at the Shell Service Station, 3560 Nameoki Road, which is owned by her father.

Her fiancé was graduated from United Electronics Institute in 1978 and is working as a service technician at Metro Business Products in St. Louis. He also served in the U.S. Army from 1966 to 1969 with a tour of duty in Vietnam in 1967-1968.

The engaged couple are completing plans to be married on Aug. 8 at the Word of Life Tabernacle.

The members of Professional Secretaries International (formerly National Secretaries Association, Int'l.), Tri-Cities Chapter, were given words of wisdom by bosses Harry Cottrell, Madison Metal Decorating Company, and Walter "Shang" Greathouse, East Side Levee District, at their meeting last week.

Greathouse, in answering the first question from the audience regarding desirable traits in a secretary, stated "One of the things I look for the most is someone who has the courage to make decisions in my absence. I can leave town with a clear mind, knowing that things will run as good or better while I am out of town." The two bosses also agreed that qualities looked for in a new secretary would be more than just typing or shorthand ability; high on the list would be initiative, willing to take responsibility and make decisions.

The importance of any job is being able to enjoy each working day. The men told the audience that if they were unhappy in their jobs, to find one they could enjoy, and not be controlled by their job. Greathouse said, "There are two things you can't camouflage: desire and enthusiasm. They will shine out above anything you learn at school."

One of the secretaries complained about the amount of work as compared to others in the office, and the men agreed that it is just as bad to have too much to do as not enough to do, and that the work load in most offices is not balanced. Some may be sitting at their desks, talking on the phone, and doing nothing, while others can't see above all their work. It just happens that some people like to work while others want to do nothing.

FEATURED SPEAKERS.

"Personally," said Greathouse, "I would not tolerate having an employee who did not want to work." "How do you handle a customer who thinks he's always right?" asked one of the secretaries. The answer given by the bosses was that a solution should be found to the customer's complaint and let him think it's his suggestion. The situation should be handled very tactfully; don't "win the battle and lose the war" they cautioned. "You can approach the problem as a challenge, and nothing will make your day for you as much as pacifying the unhappy customer," the members were told.

The membership contest, under the direction of Membership Committee Chairman Kathy Smith, of Sobol Realty, produced additional new guests at this month's meeting. Present at their first meeting were Janet Crawford of Federal Barge Lines, St. Louis; Coleen Olson, Granite City Sheet Metal; Betty Dortch, St. Louis University Hospital. Return guests included Elvira McMillan, First National Bank of Madison, Joann Brooks, Sharon Werner, and Beverly Taylor. Also present from the Alton Chapter, PSA was Mrs. June Mosier, CPS.

Reports were heard from FSA Committee Chairmen Charlene Yunevich and Helen Gieselmarm regarding FSA Senior Day in the Office, and urging attendance of the PSA members at the FSA banquet in May. Mrs. Smith gave an update on the membership committee contest, reminding the members that the May meeting concluded the contest, and prizes would be awarded to team members in June. The next meeting of the Tri-Cities Chapter is on Thursday, May 7, and anyone interested in attending and learning more about the chapter's activities is invited to contact any chapter member.

Mary Gain, secretaries week chairman, reminded the audience of the one event which will be held during Secretaries Week this year under the sponsorship of the Tri-Cities Chapter, and that is the dinner to be held on Wednesday, April 22, at the Lawyer's Club, 36th floor of the Mercantile Building in St. Louis.

The featured speaker is Dr. William Saigh, owner of the Lattice Leaf Restaurant, and his subject will be "How To Make Money." Cocktail hour will be at 6:15 p.m., and dinner will be served at 7 p.m. The cost is $15 per person.

The new Secretary of the Year will be announced by present SOTY, Helen Gieselmarm of Madison Metal Decorating Co., and the new Boss of the Year by present BOTY, Harry Cottrell, of the same company.

Rollettes meet

The Rollettes Club met at the home of Mrs. Joyce Walters, 2052 Rhodes St. last week. Prizes were won by Mrs. Helen Warfield, Mrs. Kathi Chandler, and Mrs. Walters.

A buffet was served to Mesdames Edith Wofford, Reatta Radefeld, Jeanette Wilson, Betty Brooks, Barbara Monroe, and new guests Hazel Vaughn and Mary Butler.

The next meeting will be hosted by Mrs. Warfield at her home on 1645 Spring Ave.

Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Middleton

Middleton-Barton

The wedding of Miss Patricia Ann Barton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Lee Barton Sr., 2428 Sunbury Ave., and Ronald Lee Middleton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Middleton, 3838 Suley Affton, Mo., was solemnized on March 21 at the First United Presbyterian Church.

Officiating at the ceremony was the Rev. David B. Maxton. Nuptial selections were furnished by the church organist, Mrs. Isabel Schmidt.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a full length white chiffon over taffeta gown fashioned with a fitted bodice featuring a sheer yoke and jewel neckline traced with a marabou trim.

The sheer bishop sleeves were appliqued with Chantilly lace motifs and terminated at the wrists with marabou cuffs. Lace appliques were repeated on the full skirt which was encircled with a gathered flounce of marabou.

Her melody length bridal veil was held in place by a Juliet cap of lace and marabou. She held an arrangement of silk gladioli and daisies in pink and burgundy hues.

Matron of honor, Mrs. Binnie Valencia, a sister of the bride, selected a formal length peach gown designed with a jewel neckline, long sleeves and softly flowing skirt, enhanced with a marabou trim.

The bridesmaids, Linda

Barton, a niece of the bride, and Rita Lewis, were attired in identical gowns in a burgundy color.

All attendants wore marabou headbands in their hair and carried silk bouquets of tiger lilies and daisies in the pink and burgundy shades.

Cherie Middleton, a daughter of the groom, served as flower girl and Michael Cleveland was the ringbearer. She carried a basket of pink and burgundy blossoms.

Phillip Valencia, a nephew of the bride, was the can-didier.

The groom chose his uncle, Mike Smith, as best man. Guy Middleton, the groom's brother, and Ron Hayden, were groomsmen.

Seating the guests were Bill Burger and Brad Williams.

The newlywed couple received guests at a reception given at the Eagles Aerie hall immediately following the service. Christine Valencia, a niece of the bride, presided over the guest book.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Barton chose an ivory gown with brown accents featuring full bishop sleeves and floor length skirt.

The groom's mother, Mrs. Middleton appeared in a formal yellow dress designed with long sleeves. After a wedding trip to Tan-Tar-A Resort in Missouri, the couple is now residing in Granite City.

Garden club holds annual meeting

The District's Garden Club held its annual meeting last week at the Knights of Columbus hall in Cahokia. The Cahokia Garden Club was hostess for the day.

Luncheon was served to 76 members and officers of 15 garden clubs from St. Clair, Madison, Jersey, Clinton and Macoupin counties.

The luncheon tables were decorated with white vases filled with forsythia sprays and yellow and white placemats. Each in attendance received a pen flashlight and a pressed flower book marker.

Mrs. William Lindsey, director conducted the business meeting asking the club presidents and committee chairmen to report their clubs highlights of the year.

An installation of new officers was then conducted by Mrs. Arvid Nelson. The new officers are: Mrs. Alice Trimple, recording secretary; Mrs. Eleanor Goehler, treasurer; Janis Simpson, historian.

Awards for artistic design of the winners, from Shilo Valley, Trenton, St. Clair and Fairview Heights, also were noted.

Horticulture awards also were won by mesdames Lori Hintz, Norma Crenshaw, Dorothy Chamberlain, Marion Nelson, Carolyn Honer, Lil Heberer, Mary Ellen Lindsey, Clara Winter, Lori Hintz, Ida Dunsing, Marial Kertis and Esther Searles.

Krekovich on dean's list, named captain

John Krekovich Jr. has been named to the dean's list for academic achievement at Northern Illinois University at DeKalb for the third consecutive year.

He has been a starting player for the NIU varsity soccer team for the past three years and recently was named captain of the soccer squad for next season.

Krekovich compiled a 3.36 scholastic average while taking business courses in marketing, finance and management.

To attain the dean's list, he was required to be among the top 10 percent of business majors in the categories of accounting, finance and marketing and management.

NIU's Business College is one of 106 universities in the United States, whose business school is accredited at both the undergraduate and graduate levels.

Krekovich, 21, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John (Loretta) Krekovich, 3600 Wabash Ave. He is an active member of Tau Kappa Epsilon (TKE) social fraternity at Northern.

He is a 1978 graduate of Granite City High School South, where he was a member of South's state championship soccer team.

As the next captain of Northern's soccer squad, Krekovich is following in the footsteps of two other former Granite City South's players.

Dave Sheridan and Rich Becherer — who captained earlier NIU varsity teams.

After graduating from Northern in May 1982, the young man hopes to continue his education in graduate school at St. Louis University or Washington University.

Initiative petition campaign

The Coalition for Political Honesty has begun a year-long petition drive for the Illinois Initiative, a constitutional amendment to permit voters to pass statewide laws by petition and binding referendum.

"The people of our state are far ahead of politicians when it comes to demanding reform. The initiative will give voters an opportunity to vote directly on important issues," said Patrick Quinn, Coalition spokesman.

With initiative power, citizens would be able to petition for binding statewide referendums on key subjects like tax relief, ethics reform, transportation policy, and education, he said.

The group will seek 100,000 signatures by May 2, 1982, to place the proposal on the ballot as a constitutional amendment referendum.

Last November, Coalition volunteers organized the successful campaign for an amendment which will reduce the size of the Illinois House by one-third.

Quinn said the Coalition's initiative proposal was drafted by constitutional lawyers and is modeled after initiative provisions in other state constitutions.

Under the Illinois Initiative, citizens would be able to petition the legislature to enact a proposed law by collecting about 200,000 petition signatures.

If the citizen petition proposal is enacted by the legislature and signed by the governor, it would become law. If it is rejected by legislators or the governor, then the proposition would be submitted to a vote of the people at the next general election for their majority approval or rejection.

The amendment also would give the legislature the option of putting its own alternative to the citizen initiative measure before the voters at the same election.

If this happens, the proposition receiving the most votes would prevail. Quinn said the initiative amendment provides for legislative input and consideration but gives citizens "a ballot-box way to pass politicians when they duck and sidestep important issues."

TOWING BARS STOLEN
Three $150 tow bars and five $100 towing hitches were stolen from the property of Ralph's Texaco service station, 2200 Madison Ave.

Illinois Power uses byproduct for industrial park road job

Illinois Power Co. poured the first lane of a two-lane access road into the company's Northgate Industrial Park in Granite City last week.

Flyash from the company's Wood River power station is being used in the construction project. Each lane is 1,100 feet in length.

"Flyash is a poissalane material that reacts with lime to form a slow-hardening cement."

"Illinois Power is excited about the use of flyash in construction projects," said W. E. Warren, Illinois Power vice president.

He said it is not the first time that Illinois Power had used flyash from its Wood River station for company construction projects.

In 1964 Illinois Power used flyash for concrete used in the construction of Unit 5 at Wood River, and later in the foundations and stacks of Units 1, 2, and 3 at the Baldwin power station.

Warren said the company is planning to market flyash as a result of its successes in using the by-product in their construction projects.

Flyash is also currently being used by various states in highway construction and by private commercial construction activity. The Sears Tower in Chicago, for example, was constructed with the use of flyash as an additive to the concrete.

In the road project last week, approximately 50 tons of flyash were delivered by truck from the Wood River station to the Klenstra Concrete Co. for blending with portland cement for the project.

C. D. Peters Construction Company is the road contractor, and Sheppard, Morgan and Schwaab, Inc. is the consulting engineering firm for the project.

Warren said Illinois Power made a major commitment during 1980 in the Tri-Cities area to help offset the loss of manufacturing jobs and the eroding tax base within the area. The company is about to complete the initial development of 427 acres of company-owned property at Northgate Industrial Park. This property is being fully developed for commercial and industrial use.

Phase one of the Park's development was initiated last year with the location of Precast Metals, Division, American Chromalloy Corporation, into the Park. Precast Metals is currently building a 115,500 square foot steel coating facility at Northgate. A second firm, Siderer Supply Company, will soon be constructing a distribution facility within the industrial park.

Phase one of the park's development is expected to be totally occupied by the end of this decade with more than 1,000 new permanent jobs created for area residents, Warren said.

The concrete pavement used in the road project at Northgate contained a mixture of one part of flyash to five parts of portland cement, a water reducing admixture, and an air entrainment add mixture. Illinois Department of Transportation (IDOT) specifications for portland cement concrete pavement require a flexural strength of 650 pounds per square inch and a compressive strength of 3,500 pounds per square inch.

"Flyash can be used in concrete in an environmentally sound manner," said Warren. "Flyash was selected for use in this road project due to several positive factors."

When flyash is added to concrete mixtures as a partial substitute for cement, it produces a lighter, more pliable concrete to work with, a more durable and stronger material, and one which is easier to place and finish.

Concrete in which flyash is used also tends to become stronger over a long period of time, whereas the strength of regular concrete does not increase substantially beyond 90 days. Flyash also makes highway construction more economical since larger amounts of portland cement are required in the concrete composition of the road project. Flyash sells for about $12 a ton compared to $60 a ton for portland cement.

The second lane of Illinois Power's access road to Northgate will be poured April 20.

Summer school for gifted and talented

The Granite City Board of Education last week established a summer school for talented and gifted young people, in cooperation with the Illinois State (Bellevue Area) Service Center for Gifted and Talented.

"The Illinois state gifted program is making a special effort to create opportunities for enrichment programs for highly motivated gifted and creative children during the summer of 1981," the board was told by Merna M. Musterman, Granite City School District gifted coordinator.

"We will provide a center in Granite City for the convenience of our many gifted students. Members of the Granite City Council for Gifted Children have voiced interest, fully realizing such a program must be self-supporting, unlike the previous state-subsidized enrichment summer school classes."

"Eligibility will be limited to identified gifted students currently enrolled in kindergarten through the seventh grade and residing in our district. The parochial schools also have been contacted; to date, the three Catholic schools have agreed to supply a list of students whose academic achievement test scores are compatible with our identification criteria. I am also working with the Gateway and Central Baptist schools."

"The classes will be held from 9 a.m. to 12 noon Monday through Friday, June 8-19, at GCHS North. All teachers to be used are currently employed by our district. Raymond Grinter, director of the Area Service Center, and I will serve as administrators for the program."

"The course content includes photography, computers, astronomy, science experiments, Spanish, German, rocketry, problem solving, critical thinking and creative writing."

"The subject matter will be unlike the regular, school-year curriculum and will be qualitatively differentiated to meet the higher cognitive capabilities of gifted students."

"Enrollment" will be confirmed on a first come, first served basis. Since the program depends on a cost-recovery system, sufficient enrollment must be attained for each class to be held. The average class size must be 15 students.

"Each student will pay tuition of $40 for two 90-minute classes for mornings to pay for teachers' salaries and consumable materials. Transportation will be by the respective parents."

'Final Conflict' has biblical roots

HOLLYWOOD — If you haven't read the book and have been waiting for the movie, now you can catch it. "The Final Conflict," third film in the Antichrist trilogy from 20th-Century Fox, is screenwriter Andrew Birkin's vision of the Book of Revelations with additional inspiration from The Book of Daniel, though not every biblical scholar will agree with his view.

Before he wrote the script, Birkin not only read and studied a variety of translations of the Bible but consulted three British theologians for guidance.

"But you could sit down with 50 theologians and not get any agreement on what Revelations means," the writer says, adding that he'd poured over the Apocalyptic chapters of the Bible several times before he got the Fox assignment since they make up one of his favorite books in all literature.

The new film not only treats the charisma, the evil and the overthrow of Damien, the Antichrist first introduced in "The Omen," but the second coming of Christ himself which, on screen, doesn't quite fit Birkin's notions of the event.

"But my personal opinion of the second coming is irrelevant," he holds. "I could have done with less diaphanous nightdress."

As for Damien, "The Final Conflict" finds him ambassador to the Court of St. James which Birkin considers acceptably in accord with Revelations.

"But I'm not sure I would have made him an ambassador. I would have made him John Travolta."

Actually, Birkin yearned to place the movie Antichrist at the head of the worldwide Boy Scout organization in a move he thought would have been fitting, effective and vastly intriguing.

But his employers flatly rejected his cheeky idea.

"I could write a screenplay in which a woman puts out a man's eye with a hot steam iron, but the Boy Scouts are sacrosanct," Birkin complains.

Yes, in the picture, a woman does blind an eye with a hot steam iron and there are other acts of violence which presumably are the reason for the movie's "R" rating. It also includes a sex scene, so dimly lit it's almost invisible. And characters use a couple of "no-no" words.

"They didn't exactly tell me that I had to include an act of violence every 23 minutes," says Birkin, "but ..."

A gaggle of monks in the movie, described by Birkin as "the monks' hit squad," meet death in assorted disgusting ways, all, the writer says, suggested, by children whose ideas he sought.

He's found within the young a capacity for pure evil as well as for pure good, and was delighted when the hot iron attack was suggested by a child, Barnaby Holm, who gives a key performance in the film.

The most difficult scene to write, Birkin says, was one in a chapel which he was able to put on paper only after days of staring out of an office window on the Twentieth-Century Fox lot "watching painters at work changing people's names on things. They finally got around to putting my name on a parking spot the day I finished the script."
